[COMMUNICATED.] LETTER FROM TAZEWELL.

The May Queen Precedes Gov. McMullin and strews his path with flowers-The old War-Horse Carrying Every thing before him.

> TAZEWELL, COUNTY, VA.) May 17th, 1876.

Mr. Editor ; Permit, in your valuable columns, a rambling letter from this region of the "Clinch," where mountain slopes of living green gladen the eye of man; where kine are thronging on the hills and by the margin of bright waters, and forests leaves are whispering May has come. The Emerald Queen has passed along and left her impress here. The season is propitious and the farmer happy. Tuesday, the 16th inst., being County Court day, the citizens were out in force. Hand-shaking, lively badinage and ready repartee were in order. The loiterer as he wended his way with careless step from group to group, could hear discussed with refreshing zest topics in endless variety-that of politics certainly not forgotten. And so the morning hours were passed.— High noon came on apace, and then along the crowded thoroughfare, and from the busy mart of trade, there passed the word from mar to man, "McMullin's going to speak!" Making my way to the spacious Court-room I found assembled a large and intelligent audience, eager to greet the veteran of Democracy. The Gover-nor was in his happiest vein, and the theme—"Retreachment and Reform," -discussed in masterly style, One question of vital importance to the people of Virginia-that of the State debt-the speaker fully elaborated On this subject no uncertain sound was heard; it was the true metal's ring throughout. Marked attention was paid during the entire speech, evineing the deep interest taken by the people in this all-important ques-tion. At the close of his speech, the Covernor called the attention of the assembly to his circulars, which he had ready for distribution. A gene-ral rush to the stand was the result, and soon each voter had in his possession a paper sound to the core, un-mistakably democratic, argumenta-tive, convincing; in truth a document that should be in the hands of every voter in the district. It needed but litright here I venture the prediction that the county will give him a rous-ing majority next November. OCCASIONAL,

BITTEN BY A MAD DOO .- The Alexandria Gazette of Monday evening,

A mad dog made its appearance at the residence of Mr. Wm. Taylor, near Falls Church, on Saturday evenaway bit every living thing that came in its way, including Mr. Taylor, his wife and his adopted daughter. It cleaned by then went towards an ajoining farm, where, it is reported, it was snapping and biting everything it came across, Mr. Taylor, his wife, and the little girl arrived here yesterday, and this morning took the train for Recktortown, for the purpose of having a mad stone, that is owned by parties in that town, applied to their wounds,

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.] Brigham Young's Prophetic Gifte.

It is well known that for the past twelve month the grand project for transferring the Mormon population to New Mexico has been under consideration by Brigham and his emissaries. As already revealed by the Chronicle, Governor Axtell, formerly key. of Utah, but now Governor of New Mexico, has for months been quietly working with this end in view, pay ing the way for the establishment of a new Mormon empire. The world has been puzzled to know why the Latter-Day Saints, after working for more than a quarter of a century to build up Zion in Utah, should be willing to abandon all the magnificent improve-ments of the great Salt Lake Valley and become once more ploneers of the wilderness. But the inciting cause is now as palpable as it is inevitable and irresistible. The great Prophet has discovered why the Great Salt lake has been raising at the rate of twelve inches been raising at the rate of twelve inches every twelve month for many years. There is, as is well known, no surface outlet to the waters of Salt lake, although several streams of considerable volume are continually discharged when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon, as it will be expected to pay when called upon as it will be expected to pay when called upon as it will be expected to pay when called upon as it will be expected to pay when called upon as it will be expected to pay when called upon as it will be expected to pay what is due from the property of the pay when the although several streams of considerable volume are continually discharging their waters into the lake. In the opinion of all scientific explores of this prompt payment is not made. inland saline sea there has existed a subterranean outlet, through which its surplus waters have flowed. But Brigham's eye has discovered that this outlet has been gradually choking up by precipitations of vast quantities of chloride of sedium, damming the waters of the lake as well as the future hopes of Mormondom. It is only a question of time when this subter-ranean wastegate shall be completely closed, and then a single spring flood in all the tributary streams will cause the lake to overflow its bounds and submerge the entire Sait Lake Valley. the lake to overflow its bounds and submerge the entire Salt Lake Valley. This result being inevitable, Brigham is more than anxious to flee from this second delage before the engulfment and rain of the new city of Zion. He prefers to slide quietly away to New Mexico, leaving the hated Gentiles, who have so unceremonously invaded his kingdom, to enjoy the great salt-water bath so soon to be provided for their accommodation. Avenue and Green streets and for half a block around, were densely packed with people. The windows of the Masonic Temple and all adjacent buildings within seeing and hearing dis-tance were filled with ladies. An extraordinary interest in the ceremonies was manifested by the many people, distinguished persons, including Gov. McCreery and James B. Beck, being present. The programme of the inaugural exercises were as follows:the Great Western Star Band ; prayer by Dr. E. P. Humphry; address by Dr. T. S. Bell; the unveiling of the statue by George D. Prentice, Jr., and the coronation of the statue by Mrs. Clarence Prentice; the Prentice's requiem, by Will S. Hays; an original poem by B. L. AN OLD IDEA.-What an odd thing it would be if James Gordon Bennett were to buy the Stewart palace as a home for married life? It is one of the loveliest spots in the city. There is the reception room, the parlor, the dining room, each of eighteen feet celling, gorgeously furnished and exhibiting a style unequalled in Ameri-ca. There is the picture gallery with forty feet wall graced on either side with works of art, whose value is one-third of a million. There are the stately apartments up stairs, whose finish exceeds description-and all the occupants are a mourning widow and her servants. All who pass the spot notice impressive silence which surrounds it. It is just the place for Bennett. The idea is both practicable and important. Bennett can pay more for the place than any other man, because he is the only very rich man who is willing to throw away his money; and then as a married man be will need a house suited to his positian .- Troy Times.
